

Cheryl R Cooper Caster

February 9, 1959 - October 6, 2019

Cheryl Renee Cooper-Caster was born on February 9, 1959 to Mc Douglas Cooper and Louise King - Cooper. She was their second eldest born out of four children. In 1978, she graduated from East Side High School and went on to attend Rochester Institute of Technology. While there she met and married Willis Hampton Caster Jr. and together they had two children. Their oldest child, Ashley Laurel Caster and youngest child, Aaron Cooper Caster.

Cheryl loved being a mother to both of her children, and made the decision to stay home during the beginning of their lives instead of jumping back into the workforce immediately when the family moved to Edison, NJ. Some of her personal interest included reading books, writing novels, watching TV or movies, playing video games, and talking to family. Cheryl had aspirations of becoming a writer, and actually composed a book of her own. She devoted much of her time and energy into being a caregiver, and made sure that the people around her were always taken care of. Her charm and smile enlightened everyone around her, as she was always ready and willing to help others.

Later on in life Cheryl decided to pursue her career in education, by going back to school and obtaining a Masters Degree in English and Education. She was always devoted to instilling education in herself, her children and her students. Cheryl Renee Cooper Caster is survived by her children, Ashley Caster and Aaron Caster; her husband, Willis H. Caster Jr.; her father, McDouglas Cooper; sisters, Debra Cooper and Michelle Cooper and brother,

Mike McDouglas Cooper Jr.
