“ I don't want to write this because I want to be selfish and have you here with us! Kirk, you was such a good, loving and caring father and friend. Although we went our separate ways, we still remained good friends and took care of our daughter together. I still remember speaking with you 2 Saturdays ago about a song that was playing and I wanted to know the artist. I'm going to miss calling you and hearing you say "hey miss lady or hey miss gant"! You will be missed by so many. Missing you so much.

“ First let me say how very sorry i am for the family. sending hugs and prayers to all. Known Oakley since we starting working together at Princeton in 2001. Such a kind man, funny, smart, always made me laugh and had a smile for everyone. was one of the best dads i know! always encouraging and uplifting and never an unkind word, even when you knew he was mad! My world got a whole lot smaller without him in it. I miss him every day and will continue to do so, nothing can fill his empty spot. He always loved the Christmas cookies i made for him, with the promise that he take some home to Cheryl and the kids. he and i had the same sweet tooth and he would come to my office just to say hi and grab some candy from my dish. I used to clean his desk when he went away for vacation so he could come back to a clean desk and the first time he just looked at me with amazement and said he loved it! it was such a small thing...i loved hangin out with him and talking about his fish and his family!

When everyone else decided not to speak with me anymore because i was no longer at Princeton, Oakley was NOT one of those people. we talked via text every few days or so! THAT is the kind of man he is. You rest easy my dear friend, you are sorely missed. Much love. Lisa Hancock, former coworker.
