The Life of Evangelist Rosa Bradley

October 3, 1936 – April 6, 2025

Evangelist Rosa Bradley was a radiant soul—beautiful, charismatic, and full of grace. Born in Grenada, Mississippi, she was the third of ten children raised in a home where faith, music, and strong values ran deep. At just eleven, she gave her life to Christ, beginning a lifelong journey of devotion and service. She shined early—as a student, athlete, singer, and gifted communicator. It was in high school that she met her beloved husband, Oscar. Their marriage was a 52 ½ -year partnership of love, ministry, and purpose. Together, they raised four daughters with music, faith, discipline, and joy—Rosa’s motherhood was her greatest calling and proudest work.

A talented seamstress, Rosa stitched elegance and love into every garment, just as she wove strength and wisdom into her family. Her home was always a haven—filled with laughter, home-cooked meals, warm hugs, and gospel music.

Outside the sanctuary, Rosa’s heart for service continued. She worked in early childhood education, returned to college for a degree in social work, and touched countless lives with her compassion and care.

Deeply rooted in her church, Rosa led choirs, organized outreach, and served tirelessly as a teacher, singer, and mentor. She and Oscar founded Living Bread Ministries, where she later became Pastor and Evangelist, carrying the mantle with unwavering strength and grace.

Rosa Bradley lived with purpose, led with faith, and loved without limit. Though her voice now rests, her legacy sings on—through every life she shaped and every soul she lifted.
