best in all of his students and staff.

Sam was a lifelong member of the Democratic political party. During the turbulent 1960's, he was called upon by the Trenton Board of Education (due to his strength and stamina as an educator) to play a key role in helping to racially integrate Trenton public schools by moving his all boys class from Junior High School #5 to Harrison School.

Sam Scriven married Sarah Johnson of Trenton, New Jersey (daughter of Augustus and Idella Johnson) and of this marital union, two sons were born, Lionel A. Scriven and Mark E. Scriven.

Fraternity Service Award in July 2015 to recognize his service as “ a mentor and advisor to many and an ardent supporter of Delta Upsilon's commitment to community service”.

Sam was an avid gardener and maintained the same garden (in memory of this beloved wife

Sarah) for over sixty years at the Ewing Township home that they owned. In
