

Stella Chianu Isiwele

October 29, 1955 - May 12, 2026

Stella Chianu Isiwele (née Ajoku) was born in Lagos, Nigeria, in 1955, the beloved firstborn of eight children. From the very beginning, she carried herself with a quiet strength and a depth of wisdom far beyond her years. As the eldest, she became a second mother to her siblings — guiding, protecting, and nurturing them with a steadiness that shaped the entire family.

In her early adulthood, Stella journeyed to the United States, where she built a life marked by resilience, dignity, and unwavering faith. She raised her children with the same devotion she had shown her siblings — teaching them integrity, compassion, and the importance of standing firmly in who they are. As a sister, she remained the family’s anchor. As a mother, she was a safe place. As a friend, she was loyal and discerning. Her bond with her son Kevin was especially profound — a connection rooted in mutual respect, deep affection, and unspoken understanding.

Stella was known for her signature phrase: “You are indeed your father’s child.” It was her way of affirming identity, honoring lineage, and reminding her loved ones of the strength they carried within them.

She passed peacefully in Morristown, New Jersey, at the age of 70, leaving behind a legacy of love, wisdom, and quiet power on May 12, 2026.

Those She Leaves Behind: Her children, her siblings, her extended family, and all who were blessed by her presence.

A Promise Kept: Her life was a testament to faith, family, and devotion — a promise fulfilled with grace.

Services were held Saturday, June 6, 2026, at Anderson Funeral Service, 201 Sandford St., New Brunswick, NJ.
