

Tatiana Fawn Jarvis

June 18, 1994 - October 27, 2020

Tatiana "Tati/TJ" Jarvis, 26, unexpectedly departed her Earthly life on October 26, 2020, while at home in Maryland. Tati was born on June 18, 1994, in Trenton, New Jersey. She graduated from William Tennent High School in Bucks County, PA, where she was unanimously voted homecoming queen. She also attended Bucks County Community College.

Tati was down to earth and could be heard telling jokes always. If you knew her, you'd know she loved to debate. Honestly, she would explain her point of view and go back and forth with you on any topic. Tati was intelligent and wise beyond her years. She once said, "I was 12 years old in 9th grade. I wish I could go back with the knowledge that I have now. I wasn't ready." Tati's love and wisdom make us miss her more and more when we think of her and the future she could have had.

Tati loved music, writing poems, singing, laughing, having fun, and scribbling movie script ideas in her Harry Potter and Justin Bieber notebooks. "You know what I mean" was one of her favorite phrases, and of course, "Pretty Please" with her hands together as if she's praying for a miracle. From The Killers to Mac Miller, she could appreciate the power of words and how they reflect the difficulties of the world she lived in.

Tatiana is preceded in death by her mother, Felicia Jarvis, aunt Bernadette Hugh, and her grandfather Leotha Jarvis.

She is survived by her grandmother Anna Jarvis. She leaves to mourn several aunts and uncles: Toni Latimer (Philadelphia, PA), Cynthia Butler (Edgewater Park, NJ), Kelvin & Naomi Hugh (Clementon, NJ), Kevin & Bonnie Hugh (Willingboro, NJ), Valerie Crudup & James (Hamilton, NJ), & Hope Jarvis (Morrisville, PA). In addition to the aunts and uncles mentioned above, she leaves to mourn 16 cousins: Sabrina Hugh, Robert Dunn, DePree' Hugh, Latoya Taylor, Shakeeta Hugh, Ian Richardson, Danieal Hugh, Sadiyyah Latimer, Alonzo Hugh, Achaia Koennecke, Tyree Hugh, Brittany Butler-Lee, Barry Smith, Steffon Crosswell-Hugh, Joshua Hugh, and Jaden Stills, including a host of other family and friends. Special thanks to Jo Leonard from our family for being a special part of Tati's life.

She was loved by many and will be sorely missed.
