“ Aunty Val will always be remembered for the warmth she brought into every room. She was generous in ways both big and small, always ready to give her time, her care, and her heart without hesitation. Her kindness made people feel safe and seen, and her infectious laugh could lift even the heaviest moments. Thank you for all did for me in sharing your joy and life lessons despite your own circumstances. Though she is no longer with us, the love she shared and the joy she spread live on in everyone who was lucky enough to know her. She will forever be missed, deeply loved, and never forgotten.

“ The very first time I met Valerie was during the tomb building of her sister in the quiet, rustic district of Santa Hill. From the moment she arrived, Valerie embraced me and everyone traveling with us, wrapping us in a warmth that instantly made us feel like family. She spoke with us, laughed with us, and welcomed us as though she had known us all our lives.

We did not know then that we were in the presence of someone so rare the true embodiment of kindness. Valerie was humble, gentle, and always smiling, with a sharp eye and a beautiful sense of humor that made every moment brighter. She often reminisced about her childhood, sharing stories of running freely around the yard with her siblings, who lovingly called her “Rabbit.” Those memories lived on in her, shaping the love, thoughtfulness, and pride that she carried so gracefully.

Valerie’s heart was extraordinarily kind and compassionate. She was always willing to help, always ready to give, and always present for those she loved. Her warmth, her laughter, and her loving spirit will remain with us forever. May she rest peacefully, knowing how deeply she was loved and how greatly she will be missed.

“ My fondest memory of my great-aunt is her role as a firm disciplinarian. Though she was strict, she was also deeply kind and believed strongly in the value of discipline and structure. Aunt Valerie made it a point to call me every birthday and Christmas, always offering words of encouragement and reminding me of the importance of hard work. I will deeply miss her many phone calls, her unwavering devotion to family, and the guidance she generously shared. As my grandmother’s sister, her presence in our lives was truly meaningful, and she will be greatly missed. I can faintly remember the last time we all gathered together aunty took us out she made sure grandma and I had a wonderful time. Rest well aunty

“ Tribute to Valerie Daublon

Valerie Daublon, whose name means “strength” and “valor”, was born to Lena Smith and James Ivor Smith in the quiet district of Spalding, Manchester. From the very beginning, her life reflected the courage, grace, and strength that her name embodies. She was a virtuous woman, kind-hearted, and always ready to help those in need, yet she was also playful, temperamental at times, and fiercely loyal to her friends and family.

Valerie served faithfully at Hanbury Children’s Homes in Manchester, dedicating herself to the support of children with patience, compassion, and love. She later worked at Sinclair’s Hardware, where her diligence, integrity, and devotion to her duties were evident to all. Her work was not merely a job, but a calling reflecting her belief in service, hard work, and living a life that honors God.

Valerie’s heart extended beyond her workplace into her community. In Santa Hill, she was known for her generosity and compassion, providing support and practical help to those who were ill. Her selflessness and desire to serve others exemplified the teachings of Christ, living out her faith through concrete actions.

Family was at the center of Valerie’s life. Her brothers were her ultimate pride and joy, alongside her beloved mother, Lena Smith, and sister, Barbara Smith, whom she supported and loved with unwavering devotion until they both passed. Her love for them was steadfast, and she drew immense fulfillment from nurturing and standing by her family in all circumstances.

As we reflect on her life, we take comfort in God’s promises:

“Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord they will rest from their labor, for their deeds will follow them.” — Revelation 14:13

Valerie has completed her earthly journey and entered into eternal rest. She is free at last no more pain, no more struggles. May her light shine perpetually, illuminating the hearts of all who knew her. Her legacy of faith, devotion, hard work, and service will forever etched in the lives she touched, in her family, and friends.
